Severe Cold Wave Hits North States

WIND, RAIN AND SNOW USHER IN FRIGID BLASTS

Some States Out Of Storm Path, All Feel Cold Wave

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(P)—Wind, rain and snow ushered the severest cold wave of the season into the northern states tonight.

Temperatures had dropped below zero in North Dakota and were falling steadily as far east as North Carolina. Readings of 10 below were forecast for the entire state of Nebraska.

Snow swept through the Dakotas and into Minnesota, where it drifted and halted highway traffic in some sections. Flurries were reported in Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan, with more snow predicted for tonight.

Kansas, Missouri

Kansas and Missouri were out of the path of the storm, but the mercury dropped 20 degrees at Kansas City, and near zero temperatures were forecast for both states during the night.

Eastern states, the weather bureau reported, would feel the worst of the cold wave tomorrow night. Snow tomorrow was forecast for Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and most of New England.

New York City and New England generally enjoyed clear, crisp weather today, temperatures hovered around the freezing mark.

Storm warnings were issued by the weather bureau for Lake Michigan, over which strong northwest winds will blow, and for the Atlantic coast from Cape Hatteras to Sandy Hook, N. J.

Warm Weather Ended

Sub-zero temperatures were reported in Colorado, Montana and Wyoming, ending a spell of unseasonably warm weather in those states. Low readings last night included six below at Helena, Mont., five below at Great Falls, Mont., and two below at Craig, Colo., and Newcastle, Wyo. Still colder weather was forecast.

A cold wave entered Oklahoma, accompanied by dust storm in the west and a drizzle in the east. Rains helped winter grain crops in some parts of Texas.

Los Angeles had fair weather today, the temperature reaching a high of 66.

"The cold wave will advance eastward Tuesday over central and eastern sections of the north central states, with continued cold weather on Wednesday," Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said.

He predicted snow in Michigan tomorrow and light to moderate snow in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and eastern portions of Minnesota and Iowa.

AVIATION CLASSES

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—The Interior department announced today more than 1,000 young men and women had enrolled in federally-financed vocational education classes for training as aviation mechanics.

Dr. John W. Studebaker, commissioner of education, estimated about 1,500 students already were taking the courses.

FINLAND-RUSSIA

Moscow, Dec. 26.—(P)—An official announcement tonight said an exchange of notes had approved documents and maps defining and marking the 600-mile frontier between Finland and Soviet Russia.

Weather

For Jacksonville and vicinity: Considerable cloudiness, rather severe cold wave today and tonight; fair and continued cold tomorrow.

The Norbury Sanatorium, cooperative observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, last night gave temperatures: as high 39; low 31 and at 6 p. m. last night 27.

Illinois: Considerable cloudiness snow flurries east and north portions in morning, rather severe cold wave Tuesday and Wednesday night; Wednesday fair, continued cold.

Missouri: Becoming fair with moderate cold wave Tuesday; Wednesday generally fair, not so cold west portion in afternoon.

ONE MORE "DON'T" He Put His Hand In A Lion's Cage

Santa Monica, Calif., Dec. 26.—(P)—To demonstrate that a lion would not bite, Sylvester M. Kirby, 35, thrust his hand into a cage at an ocean park concession where he was employed.

The lion seized him and clawed him so badly his arm had to be amputated. The animal was shot today because its owner feared it might become a killer.

Seattle, Dec. 26.—(P)—Robert Lind, 22 months old, reached his hand between bars to a "doggie" at Woodland Park zoo. The "doggie" was a coyote. It snapped the end off one of Robert's fingers.

SINO-JAPANESE 'TRUCE' PARLEY NOW RUMORED

Former President Of Chinese Yuan Is In Spotlight

Hongkong, Dec. 26.—(P)—Reports that Wang Ching-wei, former president of the Chinese executive Yuan, was en route to Hongkong to discuss "truce" terms with Japanese emissaries have caused lively discussion in diplomatic circles here.

First reports were that Wang, who is head of the so-called "Peace Party," would arrive today, but tonight his whereabouts was a mystery. He has left Chungking, provisional Chinese capital, on a "sack leave" and was supposed to be coming here by way of Hanoi, French Indo-China.

Much Speculation

The reports of impending "truce" negotiations could not be confirmed. It was reported on good authority that Wang, as China's "peace party" leader, can be regarded as having a "definite" purpose in visiting Hanoi and possibly Hongkong aside from any need of medical attention. Beyond this only speculation is possible.

If the purpose of his trip is connected with a truce, Wang will be on the listening end, in the opinion of a majority of observers here.

It was regarded as entirely possible, on the other hand, that Japanese feelers towards peace or a truce are becoming direct enough to warrant personal contact with a man who in the popular opinion long has been regarded as the most likely to deal with the Japanese on this point.

Harry Myers, Great Comedian, is Dead

Hollywood, Dec. 26.—(P)—Harry Myers, one of the brightest of comedians when the movies were young, and among the gamiest of extras when his fortunes waned, died Christmas Day in a hospital room paid for by the film industry's relief fund.

The 56-year-old actor, best remembered for his starring role in the first screen version of "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," succumbed to a three-day attack of pneumonia.

His career, as few others, mirrored the growth of motion pictures to a gigantic medium of entertainment.

He and Rosemary Theby, his widow, were acting for such companies as Lubin and the old Universal while many stars of today were hardly out of kindergarten.

In "Connecticut Yankee," released shortly after the World War, he helped bring a new vein of satire to the screen. The picture was later remade, with the late Will Rogers in the title part.

ANNOUNCE DIRECTOR OF DWIGHT GREEN'S RACE

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(P)—The campaign headquarters of Dwight H. Green, a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of Chicago, announced tonight Green's campaign would be directed by Ferre C. Watkins, attorney and former state commander of the American Legion.

Green is also an attorney, as a member of the U. S. District Attorney's staff he prosecuted Al Capone.

THAW IN EUROPE

London, Dec. 26.—(P)—Most of Europe, blanketed under snow, today faced the prospect of a general thaw bringing a slushy end to its "white Christmas."

Britain suffered first as warm winds sent temperatures up and turned streets and roads into bog-like lanes.

REBELS ARREST FIFTY PERSONS IN SPY PROBES

Result Of Discovery Of Papers Carried By Briton

Hendaye, France, (At the Spanish Border), Dec. 26.—(P)—An official insurgent communiqué from Spain today announced that 50 persons had been arrested as a result of the discovery of espionage documents in a valise carried by a British vice-consul and that two British subjects would be tried by insurgent judges.

The communiqué issued through the insurgent news service said "the British diplomatic pouch was used currently by spy rings at San Sebastian and St. Jean De Luz (France)."

Found In Pouch

Papers found in the pouch carried by Vice-Consul Harold Goodman, British vice-consul at San Sebastian, were described in the official statement as "information and plans concerning the composition and placing of military forces. There were also Red (government) questionnaires asking the situation of Nationalist (insurgent) forces. The pouch also was used for contraband foreign currency destined for the most part for payment to enemy agents."

It was further declared that documents found in possession of Spanish government agents included the names of two British subjects: "Mr. Oolding at the San Sebastian consulate, and Mr. Rattenburg, attaché at the British agency at Burgos (insurgent capital)."

The communiqué said insurgent judges would determine the "responsibility of these two men" who were not identified further.

Self Amputation Is Apparent Success

Minneapolis, Dec. 26.—(P)—Henry Donnet, recovering tonight from shock suffered when he was forced to amputate his right hand with a jack-knife after it became caught in a steam boiler.

Doctors were still skeptical over his condition, but they said they believed the 32-year-old janitor of Central High School would soon be as well as his experience as if expert surgeons had performed the operation.

Donnet fell unconscious after severing the hand. Three hours later he managed to notify police who took him to a hospital.

Mrs. Dull Begins 14-15 Year Term

Detroit, Dec. 26.—(P)—Mrs. Fern Patricia Dull, the "office wife" who was convicted of the slaying of her lover, Attorney William Holbrook, of Benton Harbor, entered the Detroit House of Correction today to begin a 14-to-15 year term for manslaughter.

The attractive 34-year-old blonde was brought here by automobile from the jail at St. Joseph by Sheriff Charles L. Miller of Berrien county and his wife, Cleo.

Outwardly calm and collected, Mrs. Dull said an appeal from the conviction "is up to my attorneys." She was dressed in a neat black and grey plaid coat, a black hat with green feathers, a black dress trimmed in white, with gloves to match, and black shoes.

With her she brought numerous Christmas gifts and 200 cards and messages she received at the Berrien county jail Christmas day.

VENEZUELA OIL

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—The National Coal Association said today that Representative Dirksen (R-Ill.) had protested to the state department against any trade agreement with Venezuela which would "freeze" the excise tax on petroleum imports at the current rate of a half a cent a gallon.

Dirksen wrote the department that more than 23,000,000 barrels of oil were imported from Venezuela in 1937.

ROBBINS-SEIGLE

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 26.—(P)—William Robbins-Seigle, 59, chairman of the board and research director of the Johns-Manville corporation, died in St. Mary's hospital today of pneumonia which followed an abdominal operation Dec. 6.

A Final Wonder Of 1938—Invisible Glass

Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 26.—(P)—Discovery of a coating that makes glass invisible, so that it disappears from view like the wearer of Siegfried's legendary cape, was announced today by Dr. Katharine B. Blodgett, noted woman scientist.

Ordinary thicknesses become clear as air, and reveal how much human eyes have been missing in looking through even the finest glass. Purest glass transmits about 92 percent of light, against more than 99 with the new coating. A coated pane is visible only by its dimly outlined edges.

The glass never reflects light from any angle whatever, no matter how strong the glare. Clock, dial face and show case glass and windows appear not to exist. Eyeglasses would not bother wearers with reflection of stray beams from side or behind.

New feats in photography seem possible. Normally a camera lens cuts out 8 per cent of light. With some better types of camera, using three or four lenses, this means a loss of 25 to 35 per cent of the light reaching the plate. Coated lenses would give that much increase in light.

An incredibly thin film on both surfaces of glass is the secret of this scientific miracle. The film is about four millionths of an inch, or one quarter the wave length of light, in thickness.

Dr. Blodgett is of the General Electric research laboratory. Her work is an example of "pure" science that

Insurgents Take Strategic Town In Catalonia Advance

Elsewhere in Catalonia Franco's Troops Report Steady Progress in Thrust Aimed at Capital, Barcelona

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish frontier), Dec. 26.—(P)—The Spanish insurgent military command reported tonight the capture of Borjas Blancas, strategic town 18 miles southeast of Lerida on the main Catalonian highway to Tarragona on the Mediterranean coast.

Insurgent radio stations broadcast a report from Generalissimo Francisco Franco's general headquarters that this important position fell in the 4th day of their general offensive into the heart of the government stronghold in northeastern Spain.

Campaign Center

Borjas Blancas is approximately 35 air miles from Tarragona and is in the center of the insurgent campaign on the southern end of the Catalonian front.

Elsewhere in Catalonia Franco's troops reported a slow but steady advance in their thrust aimed ultimately at Barcelona, the government capital.

Just south of Borjas Blancas, the insurgents reported they penetrated the province of Tarragona in the vicinity of the Sierra de la Llena, where the government has erected a strongly fortified line.

The insurgent columns in the mountains and those at Borjas Blancas apparently were endeavoring to form a junction at Montblanch, 20 miles to the east for a combined push against Tarragona, 20 miles south southeast.

Montblanch is a junction on the curving main Lerida-Tarragona highway.

Insurgent planes, flying ahead of the land forces, bombed Reks, about 10 miles from Tarragona on the highway. Government advisers said nine persons were killed.

FRANCO-ITALIAN COLONIAL ISSUE IS 'CLARIFIED'

Next Move Is Up To Italy By Terms Of French Reply

Paris, Dec. 26.—(P)—France told Italy today that she accepted the Italian note renouncing the 1835 Laval-Mussolini territorial treaty but that the accord must stand as the only basis for negotiations between the two powers.

Thus, the next move in the colonial issue was put squarely up to Italy as Premier Daladier, despite fascist cries of "provocation," disclosed plans to make his tour of Corsica and Tunisia a mighty "hands off demonstration" to Premier Mussolini's legions.

Answer To Italy

The French note was sent to Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano by Andre Francois-Poncet, French ambassador to Rome. It answered Italy's note which declared annulled the 1835 pact. The pact gave more than 44,000 square miles of territory to Italian Libya and Italian Somaliland at the expense of Tunisia and French Somaliland.

Daladier arranged to travel by warship and to review huge parades in Corsica, France's Mediterranean island department, and Tunisia, her North African protectorate, in a tour of military fanfare.

Japanese Capture 4 Towns, Kill 600

Shanghai, Dec. 26.—(P)—The Japanese, striving to pacify unconquered South Shansi province, in North China, announced today their forces had captured four towns and killed 600 Chinese in a new offensive.

They reported they had won control of hilly regions north of the Fen river radiating from Linfen, city which lies about 80 miles east of the Yellow river and about 200 miles northwest of Kalgans.

Severe fighting was reported under way near the juncture of Shansi, Shensi and Honan provinces.

RUDE AWAKENING

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 26.—(P)—Weary of driving, Joseph Fenton, 34, of New York, steered to the side of the lonely highway today, switched off his car lights and fell asleep.

Crash!

Fenton, cut and bruised, awoke in his car 40 feet from where he had parked on a railroad track. A locomotive had hit it.

ROBBINS-SEIGLE

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 26.—(P)—William Robbins-Seigle, 59, chairman of the board and research director of the Johns-Manville corporation, died in St. Mary's hospital today of pneumonia which followed an abdominal operation Dec. 6.

AMUEL V. STICKEY

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 26.—(P)—Samuel V. Stickey, 74, president of the Farmers and Mechanics bank, died today. He was a former deputy sheriff and circuit court clerk of Knox county. His widow survives.

UP TREND IN TRADE IS PREDICTED FOR 1939

New York, Dec. 26.—(P)—A steady up trend in trade in the first part of 1939 was forecast today by William R. Kuhns, editor of "Banking," official publication of the American Bankers Association.

The business outlook, he held, largely was dependent "on government and business leaders getting together and on the course of world politics."

SAMUEL V. STICKEY

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 26.—(P)—Samuel V. Stickey, 74, president of the Farmers and Mechanics bank, died today. He was a former deputy sheriff and circuit court clerk of Knox county. His widow survives.

U.S. DELEGATES SATISFIED WITH GAINS AT LIMA

Eighth Pan-American Conference Will Close Today

Lima, Dec. 26.—(P)—United States delegates today hailed the eighth Pan-American Conference which closes tomorrow as a remarkable monument of achievement and an excellent example for future assemblies of the western world's 21 republics.

This note of optimism was registered as the various delegations began breaking up after more than two weeks of earnest negotiations which produced some 130 resolutions and declarations, including the momentous "Lima declaration" for new world solidarity and defense.

Amid the hurry and bustle of preparations for the final session, there were evidences that the United States delegation did not intend to rest on the gains made here for improving Latin American relations.

Future Assemblies

Many of the Washington delegates already were laying plans for technical Pan-American conferences to be held shortly. Among them were assemblies on the Pan-American highway and on intellectual cooperation, both of which will be held in Santiago, Chile.

The final social event will be a dinner and reception given by President Oscar Benavides of Peru at the governor's palace.

Most of the United States delegates planned to go directly from the reception to the nearby port of Callao to board the S. S. Santa Maria which sails for New York early Wednesday.

Alf M. Landon, Republican candidate for president in 1936 and former governor of Kansas, left ahead of his fellow United States delegates today. He took a plane for Guatemala en route home.

Death Plunge of 3 Indians in Montana Probed by Officers

Hardin, Mont., Dec. 26.—(P)—The death plunge of three Crow Indians off a 250-foot cliff, over which the Red Man once stampedede lions before killing them with arrows, provided officers with a possible murder mystery today.

Blood on sagebrush indicated to Sheriff Henry H. Ulrich that a terrific fight occurred atop "Buffalo Falls" before the bodies of Anna Door, 26, Pete Charles Strong, 45, and Fred Old Horn, 50, dropped to the dry bed of Big Horn river below.

The driver of a car reported to have been on top the cliff Friday night, about the time the trio died, was sought for questioning. Strong and Door appeared to have survived the plunge only to die while crawling for help, from wounds inflicted by sharp points in the rock.

Not far from the cliff is the site where old Fort Custer was erected after the Sioux Indians massacred Gen. George A. Custer and his men in 1876.

Governor Earle in Another Crack-up

Philadelphia, Dec. 26.—(P)—Pennsylvania's flying governor, George H. Earle, intends to keep right on flying despite three crack-ups—the most recent, shortly injuring himself, his wife and two guests.

"Sure we'll keep on flying," said young George H. Earle, 43, today. The son, learning to fly himself, watched from another plane yesterday as his father's ship nosed up in a fast landing at a suburban aviation country club field.

The governor had flown Mrs. Earle and two friends from Harrisburg to Philadelphia for a Christmas party at the home of the governor's mother. Earle, who returned Thursday from a vacation in France, was flying his ship for the first time in more than a month. He overshot the field and hit hard. The under-carriage collapsed.

Earle and his wife were cut on the legs and the others cut on the face. Treated at a hospital, they attended the scheduled party.

ANOTHER SUICIDE

Budapest, Dec. 26.—(P)—Another suicide was added today to the list of persons who have ended their lives in protest against proposed Hungarian laws for the regulation of Jews.

The latest death was that of the well-known woman physician, Irma Szabo. Police, who said she died of poisoning, listed the case as suicide.

Roosevelt Decides On Huge Air Force

MERCIFUL MEMORY Merchant Gives 3,000 Warm Clothing

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 26.—(P)—A mother with three shivering children huddled under her overcoat, was just one of 3,000 persons who were clothed today by I. Rude, Dallas merchant who remembers what it's like to be in need.

Hours before daybreak this bleak morning a block-long double line formed in front of his downtown store. By noon the line was four blocks long, and very few left their places for lunch. It was more important to have a new, warm sweater or a pair of shoes.

Rude, who started giving his Christmas clothing parties in Denver in 1919, stood by the door and sized up each of the needy. Those who needed shoes got them, and a new coat. Those who had coats got warm underclothing or hats.

HOLIDAY DEATH TOLL SHORT OF 500 FOR 1937

More Than 450 Now Reckoned In List Of Tragedies

By The Associated Press.

The nation paid with more than 450 lives for its holiday week end.

At least 341 of the violent deaths were caused by traffic accidents.

The total death count for the week end, however, was short of the 500 fatalities reported last Christmas.

Fires Claim 21

Fire claimed 21 lives this year; gunshot wounds 13; suicides 15; train accidents 12; drowning 6; and miscellaneous causes, the rest.

Largest deaths tolls by states included: California 25; Illinois 22; Michigan 26; Missouri 16; Ohio 42; Indiana 17; New Jersey 13; New York, including New York City, 37; Pennsylvania 30; Texas 35.

Seven states—Delaware, Iowa, Nebraska, Nevada, Rhode Island, Wyoming and Vermont—and the District of Columbia reported no violent deaths.

Holy Land Arabs Kidnap Britisher

Jerusalem, Dec. 26.—(P)—Rebellious Arabs today kidnapped a British bank manager, Louis Le Bouvier, near Jericho.

The abduction was one of several Christmas disorders in the Holy Land in which four persons were killed and five injured.

A royal air force armored car found Bouvier's abandoned automobile beside the Jerusalem-Jericho road.

Among the Holy Land murders was that of Yassin Jarallah, who was said to have been a liaison officer between Pashri Bey Nashashibi, leader of Arab opposition to the rebel leader, the Grand Mufti, and the Emir Abdullah of Transjordan. For the second time within a week the home of Diab Nashashibi, a cousin of the opposition leader, was bombed and attacked.

FATHER, THREE SONS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

West Manchester, O., Dec. 26.—(P)—A father and three sons were killed tonight when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a fast passenger train during a blinding snow storm.

The dead were: Oca Stivers, 50, the father; and Noah, 28, Oscar, 15, and Cletus, 12.

Coroner Walter McCool said he had not been able to determine who was driving the auto.

APPROACHING WAR

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—Rep. Martin Dies (D-Tex.), charged today that the United States was being deceived by propaganda for the purpose of involving us in the approaching European war.

The Texan, who led the congressional investigation of un-American activities, said he would urge the new congress to re-state "the fundamental policy of non-interference with other countries and opposition to all entangling alliances."

VETERANS ACCUSED

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—Edwin O. Perrin, commander of the American Veterans Association, accused the Veterans of Foreign Wars today of sponsoring veterans' legislation so costly that it would ultimately necessitate use of funds urgently needed for national defense.

CONGRESS WILL HEAR A SPECIAL MESSAGE ON IT

Armaments Talk Is To Follow Appearance January 4

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—President Roosevelt was reported authoritatively today to have decided on a double-barreled recommendation to Congress for national defense reinforcements of unprecedented peace-time magnitude.

Persons close to the administration said the chief executive intended to report, in the annual message he will deliver personally to a joint Senate-House session on January 4, that the security of the nation and its neighbors was threatened by the armed might of aggressive dictator states.

Special Message

A week later, under present arrangements, a special message will present detailed recommendations for an army air force of some 10,000 planes and numerous other measures.

Thus, the administration contemplates a quadrupled military air fleet of at least 13,000 aircraft, including the minimum of 3,000 Congress authorized for the navy in this year's billion-dollar fleet expansion act.

The magnitude of the air program has caused surprise here, especially in view of the fact that some high army officers were advocating at least up to recently, a comparatively small air force of high quality.

Early in October Major General Henry H. Arnold, new chief of the army air corps, declared that the country didn't need a great many more military airplanes, but needed faster ones. Under the development program being carried on at that time, the army was to have 2,300 craft by 1940. Gen. Arnold, in an interview, called that "a very good figure as things now stand."

Effect Of Munich

These remarks were made about the time of the signing of the Munich four-power accord. Whether implications of that accord and the post-Munich events abroad have now changed Arnold's mind is not known. He could not be reached for comment tonight.

There have been reports that some other high officers of the army could not see eye to eye with the administration on defense plans. These were denied ten days ago by General Malin Craig, chief of staff, who said: "The administration and the war department have been working in intimate accord on a program regarding which absolutely no decision has yet been finally made."

Shortly before that a retired officer, Major General George Van Horn Moseley, had told the New York Board of Trade that "fear and hysteria" were being engendered in support of heavy expenditures for national defense.

Startling Evidence

Supporting the president's forthcoming proposals, congressional circles have heard, will be "startling evidence" that Germany's aerial force and aircraft factories geared to war demands threaten to upset completely the world balance of military and political power.

From usually well-informed administration and legislative sources come reports of these developments:

1. Details of the new rearmament program are complete. They were shaped in close cooperation with General Malin Craig, army chief of staff, and other military advisors, since Europe's uneasy peace agreement was reached at Munich. War and navy department budgets already have been approved.

2. Convinced that American power must be quickly augmented, Mr. Roosevelt has been unmoved by arguments of some congressional critics that the United States, protected by two oceans, needed no such force as 10,000 army planes.

3. The chief executive and influential congressmen confident Congress will approve at least the basic rearmament legislation.

MILK STORE PICKETING RESTRAINT IS ADVISED

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(P)—Master I. Chancery Robert W. Dunn recommended today that the Milk Wagon Drivers' union be restrained from picketing 60 stores selling cut-rate milk in Chicago.

He said in a report filed with Superior court that there is no employer-employee relationships involved in the dispute and that the union has no legal justification for picketing the stores because the milk is not handled by union men before it is received by retailers.

Average Man Taken At Face Value

Probably the best of all commentaries on the average man is the plaintive note contributed by the publisher of Who's Who, a well-known directory. It is a note of a man of good reputation and standing in his community.

Because practically everybody else follows the same rule, an imaginative swindler was able to put across one of the most fantastic hoaxes of modern times. He deceived everybody from the U. S. government to Wall Street and came to grief only because of a slip-up on a minor detail.

People probably will be drawing morals from the case for years to come. But in some ways the most striking thing about it is the way it illustrates the almost universal tendency to take a man at his own valuation.

Banks have a commendable wariness in the matter of cashing checks, and most business firms want to know a little something about you before they will let you open a charge account; but beyond that you can get people to believe practically anything you say about yourself, and your history is what you say it is.

And the odd thing about it all is not that a man like Coster, or Musica, pops up once in a while to make everybody look like a sucker, but the fact that it doesn't happen oftener.

It could happen. All our business and social machinery is geared to the supposition that the average man is a decent and honorable sort—the belief that it isn't necessary to take extraordinary precautions against swindling because most men simply aren't the swindling kind. Any man who has plenty of nerve and imagination can take advantage of that set-up and get away with it for a long time—as witness Coster, Ivar Kreuger, Dr. Cook, and sundry others.

But ordinary people live up to our expectations. They pan out just about as we think they will. We don't have to police every detail of our personal relationships. By and large, this really is the sort of world that our belief in the next fellow tells us it is.

And that is a rather important point. For it goes back to one of the fundamentals in the existing social organization. What happens when that fundamental is discarded can be seen today in all its pristine ugliness in the dictator-lands overseas.

There the belief in man's innate decency and intelligence has been discarded. Because it has been discarded, elaborate machinery to make men think and act as their leaders want them to think and act is required. For by an inexorable logic, once you assume that your fellow man is not to be trusted in some things you must assume that he is not to be trusted in anything. And the same logic forces you to regiment every detail of his life.

So perhaps we had better go on taking people at their face value, in spite of the Coster hoax. The only alternative is to start something we wouldn't like at all.

Some Vice Presidents

Few Americans, perhaps, would be able to tell off-hand how many vice presidents of the United States afterward became president, and for the benefit of any who might be interested,

What a World! I Oughta Get a Pension

ed, we may recall that there were nine.

They were, in order, John Adams, Jefferson, Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, and Coolidge. The first three were elected president after serving terms as vice president, while the remaining six became president upon the death of the chief executive with whom they were elected.

John Adams served two terms as vice president under President Washington, was elected president in 1796, but defeated for re-election in 1800 by his own vice president, Thomas Jefferson. In fact, Adams ran third in the election of 1800, receiving 65 electoral votes, while Jefferson and Aaron Burr received 73 each. The election was thus thrown into the House of Representatives, and Jefferson was elected. Burr becoming vice president under the system then in effect.

Martin Van Buren was vice president during the second term of President Andrew Jackson, whom he succeeded to the presidency in 1837. Van Buren was defeated for re-election in 1840; defeated for nomination for president in 1844, and nominated but defeated in 1848.

Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson and Arthur merely served out the unexpired term of their predecessors, although Fillmore tried for an additional term and failed.

These Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge were elected president in their own right after serving out the unexpired terms of their dead predecessors, McKinley and Harding.

High School Notes

The Crimmon basketballers are giving local fans some heart-straining moments this season. J. H. S. rooters fill the old David France gym to the rafters when the five squares off with an invader. Besides running the voices and fingernails of fans, the hectic contests tend to jangle a coach's nerves. Frank Walker, Crimmon mentor, wants a let-up.

All of the home contests thus far have looked like a last, desperate rally from the opening whistle to the final gun. Several times during the games there have been long scoreless periods, but the fires kept the crowds howling themselves hoarse with scrappy, unrelenting play.

Cheerleaders come into their own during the basketball season. In outdoor sports, the fans are usually spread out too much to have any effective coordination.

Crimmon cheerleaders get plenty of support at the hoop tilts, especially this season. The varsity coordinators are Paul Ketner and George Vasconcellos. However, a new pair assisted the veterans in directing the screams at the last contest—Dorothy Jane McPherson and Uia Megginson.

One feature that the J.H.S. students at the recent game with Carrollton thoroughly enjoyed was a well led by Principal J. C. Mutch during the half intermission. A group of patriotic J. H. Sers in a corner of the gym asked the high school administrator to lead them in one of the familiar yells. Imagine their surprise when he complied. He got plenty of support, too.

Miss Frances Brown, English instructor and dramatic coach, is issuing the first call for potential stars to play in the coming annual senior play. Miss Irene Groves, dean of the senior group, together with a number of classmates, has selected a three-act play which will be given soon after the first of the year.

From a glance, the play (title to be announced later) looks like a real drama. Miss Brown announcing to the senior home room the opening of try-outs, said that she needed "men". No one stepped forward.

Thursday found most of the male students of J. H. S. wandering around without ties. It seems that a group of overallsmen decided that things were getting a little dull during the winter period and started waylaying each student appearing on the grounds with a tie, promptly removing the article.

Some of the boys gave their ties fully a year's wear during the day, automatically knotting the object after each removal only to have it torn off once more.

William N. Findley To Wed Chevy Chase Maryland Girl Soon

Engagement Announced by Parents of Miss Ruth Woolsey in East

Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Woolsey of Chevy Chase, Maryland, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Woolsey to William N. Findley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Findley of Jacksonville.

Miss Woolsey, who made her debut two years ago, studied during her freshman and sophomore years at Mount Holyoke College. She is completing her college course this year at Cornell University in New York, majoring in a study of the history of art.

The bride-elect's father is a prominent international lawyer of Washington, D. C. He was the law partner of the American statesman, Robert Lansing, until the latter's death. Mr. Woolsey served as legal advisor to the secretary of state during Mr. Lansing's tenure of that office in the Wilson administration. Mr. Woolsey, among other capacities is the editor of the American Journal of International Law.

William Findley, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Findley, reside in this city at 313 East Beecher, received his primary and secondary education in the Jacksonville schools, graduating from Jacksonville high school with the class of '32 and receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the Illinois College in 1936. The following year he received the additional degrees, bachelor of science in mathematics and bachelor of science in engineering from the University of Michigan.

The past year Mr. Findley was a McMullen graduate research scholar at Cornell University where he has been preparing a thesis on his study of dynamic stresses. This year he is an instructor in engineering at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

During his study at the University of Michigan he was elected to the scholastic honor society of Phi Kappa

Phi and the research honor society of Sigma Xi.

LEAVE FOR MICHIGAN

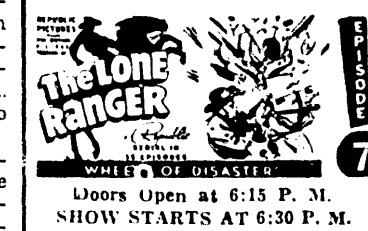

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Allen of Winchester left Monday for Kalamazoo, Mich., for a visit with Mrs. Allen's sisters, the Misses Mary and Jane Delbert. Mr. Allen will return this week and Mrs. Allen will remain there for an extended visit.

Christmas Dinner Given 212 Families By Salvation Army

Plan Puppet Show for Xmas Entertainment Thursday Night at Barracks

In addition the army received numerous gifts of food and cash. Merchants and individuals were generous in their donations to the annual Christmas supply fund. Because of these gifts, it was possible for the army to reach with a substantial Christmas dinner practically every worthy family in the city.

The food was delivered in well-made baskets, which will be useful about the homes of the recipients. All deliveries were made Saturday afternoon except in cases where no one was found at home. Such deliveries were made Christmas morning.

The annual holiday entertainment will be held at the army barracks Thursday night. A puppet show is being arranged for the occasion. The puppets have been made by members of the Red Shield club. A portable stage for the actors has been constructed.

Lou Nova Agrees To Meet Jim Braddock

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The New York Daily News says that Lou Nova, promising California heavyweight, has agreed to meet Jimmy Braddock, ex-world's heavyweight champion, in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden on March 31.

If Nova wins he will meet Max Baer outdoors next summer, according to the News.

Nova, who has been called after beating out a number of contenders, has been in training for some time.

Jewell Young Is "Best Athlete" of Western Conference

Purdue Cage Star Honored for 1938 Season; Ralph Heikkinen Second

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Santa Claus didn't forget Jewell Young, Purdue's great basketball player, leaving him with the designation as the Western conference's "outstanding athlete" during 1938.

Young, whose 184 points last season set an all-time Big Ten record, won the honor in an Associated Press poll of sports writers, coaches and officials. A close second was Ralph Heikkinen, All-American football guard at Michigan in the race for the more than 100 ballots submitted.

Young set a conference cage scoring record in the 1936-37 season with 172 points and then last season proceeded to break this mark by 12 points as Purdue took the basketball title.

Corbett Davis of Indiana won the award last year. Before him the winners were Jesse Owens, Ohio State, 1936; Jay Berwanger, Chicago, 1935 and 1934; and Duane Purvis, Purdue, 1933.

Strikes to Spare

SINGLE PIN SPARES

Ball is in proper position to make No. 10 single pin spare with a hook.

BY DON BEATTY
World All-Events Champion
Single pin spares—the 4, 7, 6, and 10—give some bowlers a lot of trouble.

The No. 10 probably is missed more than all the others put together. If you miss it outside or inside, it is a case of the wrong angle for the ball. If you roll across the alley from left to right and the ball drops in the gutter, you are taking too much alley and should move more to the center.

If you miss it outside or inside, it is should move more to the left side of the alley. The same applies to the No. 6 pin as well as the 6-10 combination, except that you have a greater margin to work in.

Such single pins as the 4 and 7 should never be missed. Use your strike ball and place it a few inches farther to the center of the drive than your spot for the strike ball.

Elizabeth Roady of Kane and H. Rowden Wed on Christmas

Graduate of Illinois College Reads Marriage Vows

Kane—A wedding of interest to many in this community was solemnized at 3 o'clock Christmas afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Roady here, the former being principal of the high school, when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Roady, became the bride of Hugh H. Rowden, also of Kane. The bride's grandfather, Elder T. J. Roady, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few close friends.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary Rowden, as maid of honor, and Miss Betty Rowden as bridesmaid, both sisters of the bridegroom. Goldman Roady and Elston Roady, brothers of the bride, were best man and groomsmen.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Austin Cope of Jerseyville, sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond). A reception followed, during which refreshments were served, the wedding cake being an interesting feature. The home was decorated with bouquets of large white and white "mums."

Mr. and Mrs. Rowden left on a wedding trip of secret destination and duration, but it is known that they will return in time for Mrs. Rowden to resume her duties as English and music instructor in the Chesterfield High school after the holidays. Mrs. Rowden was a graduate with the class of 1938, Illinois College, where she took leading parts in a number of dramatic club plays.

Bradley Tech Wins From Oregon, 52-39

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Bradley Tech overcame an early lead tonight to defeat the University of Oregon basketball team, 52 to 39, before 5,000 spectators.

The lanky Oregon five ran up a 6-0 lead in the first two minutes of play, but Bradley tightened its defense and used the score at 8-all.

Using a fast break almost all the way, Bradley soon built up a comfortable lead and took the decision going away with Schunk and Hudson sharing offensive honors.

Big Ten Quintets Move Into Garden

Minnesota and Illinois To Play in New York

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Two of the Big Ten's top teams, Minnesota and Illinois, move into Madison Square Garden tomorrow night to take on Metropolitan College quintets in the first of two holiday week double-headers.

Minnesota, rated by Coach Dave MacMillan as a team that "may turn out to be the greatest I ever had," will present a veteran array led by forwards Gordon Addington and Johnny Kunkin in its clash with a largely-sophomore New York University quintet. The other game will send Illinois, with Pick Dehner, third-highest scorer in the Big Ten last season, against Manhattan College.

Both invading forces will be favored to repeat New York triumphs of a year ago, when the Gophers turned back N. Y. U. and Long Island U., and the Illini won over St. John's. N. Y. U. will have in its lineup only one 1937 starter, Danny Dowd. Manhattan has been weakened considerably by the graduation of spark-plug Nat Volpe and also may be without the services of Jim (Socker) Sarullo, injured in a game with American U. last week.

Southern California's squad will be absent tomorrow night's spectators. The Bruins will make their Garden debut Friday night against L. I. U. on a card that also will match Colorado with St. John's.

VIRGINIA

Miss Virginia Rexroat of New York City will spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rexroat, Sr.

Miss Julia Lee Davis will be a Christmas visitor at Mattoon with Mr. and Mrs. John Hackman.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Waggoner and daughter, Betty and Virginia, and their guest, Clyde Rogge of Rome, will spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pine and children at Wood River.

Mr. and Mrs. Birmann entertained a number of friends Wednesday evening at dinner in honor of Mr. Birmann's birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. F. McClintock and daughter, Mrs. McClintock and daughter, Mrs. McClintock.

James Holtsclaw, local restaurant owner, and his brother-in-law, Del Thompson, escaped injury in an automobile collision while returning from Springfield Thursday evening. The Holtsclaw car was damaged on the front left side as it collided with the rear left side of a car driven by a Minnesota man, the two passengers in whose car escaped injury.

George Robert Griffin's car was damaged Thursday evening on the Beardstown-Springfield road, when he was unable to stop on the slippery pavement and his car skidded into the rear of a state highway snowplow.

The annual Christmas treat for children, sponsored by the Kiwanis club and Goodfellow, was distributed at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the court house.

Mrs. Anna B. Bird Is Found Dead Sunday At Her Home Here

Funeral Wednesday for Local Woman; Inquest Is Held Monday Morning

Mrs. Anna B. Bird was found dead at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning at her home, 1100 South East street. Coroner E. O. Sample held an inquest at ten o'clock Monday morning at the Williamson funeral home.

Decedent was born in Kentucky Nov. 19, 1868, a daughter of William S. and Mary Riggs. One daughter, Mrs. Bernadine Holmes, preceded her in death. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Elva Lumley of this city, and Mrs. J. K. McChesney of Kentucky. She leaves also four grandchildren.

For 15 years previous to 1933, Mrs. Bird was employed by the Jacksonville State hospital.

Funeral services will be held from the Williamson funeral home at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with interment in Diamond Grove cemetery.

TALLULA MAN DIES AT HOSPITAL HERE

Thomas Bright, 71, a resident of Tallula, died suddenly at the Jacksonville state hospital about 9 o'clock Monday morning. He was a victim of Arterio sclerosis. He was admitted to the hospital September 28 of this year.

Decedent is survived by his wife, Emma, of Tallula, and one son, residing near Springfield.

Standing behind a veritable mountain of pop-corn balls, nuts, fruit and presents which they gave away Friday afternoon at the annual Kiddle party held in the auditorium at Illinois School for the Deaf, the above three members of the local Elks Lodge put on their Christmas smiles for the thousand children who were their guests. Everybody had a big time at the party, the Elks enjoying it just as much as their "Kiddle" guests. Shown above are John Larson and Dan Cloud, who arranged the details of the party. Santa Claus, who drew a spontaneous welcome when he entered the hall, and E. R. Franklin, exalted ruler of the local lodge.

"Whom the King Delighteth to Honor"

Veteran of World War Left Unusual Memorial in Shape of Letter From King of England; Death Occurs Three Weeks Ago in Macomb Hospital.

George G. Rose of Rushville, who died three weeks ago in St. Francis hospital at Macomb, left a memorial of which few knew until after his death. His uncle, Edgar Simpson, residing northwest of this city, was named administrator of his estate, and among his personal effects, discovered a letter of commendation for war services, written in the King's own hand.

Rose was a veteran of the World War. He did not wait for the entrance of the United States, but went to Canada and enlisted 18 months before this country declared war on Germany. Rose saw real service and acquitted himself valiantly.

The letter of commendation was written him in 1916 by King George V. It is written on the royal stationery from Buckingham Palace, and carries the signature, "George R. I." The letter, always appended to their signatures by the kings of Great Britain are the initials of the Latin phrase "Rex Imperator", conveying the idea of both royalty and military authority.

Rose was a splendid specimen of manhood, his uncle said, before he entered service in the war. But his health was impaired, and never afterward did he know a well day. King George was evidently acquainted with Rose's case history, for the letter expresses the wish for his restoration to health.

"I did not know he had the letter," Mr. Simpson said. "He never spoke of it. I found it among his personal things. I know he saw real service, because of what another veteran told me. His detachment was stationed on the front not far from where my nephew was serving."

The letter from King George couched in the simplest language, is something any veteran would feel it an honor to possess. It is brief, but expressive of the real thought of both King George and Queen Mary, who is also included in the expression of gratitude to the American boy who fought on the side of the Allies. The letter reads:

Buckingham Palace, 1916.

"The Queen and I wish you god-speed and a safe return to the happiness and joy of home life, with an early restoration of health. A grateful mother country thanks you for faithful service."

George R. I."

Investigate Death Of Carrollton Man Found on Highway

George McCadden Fatally Injured Sunday When Hit by Truck; Seek Driver

Carrollton—Coroner Russell Shields conducting an investigation into the death of George McCadden, 74, who was fatally injured Sunday afternoon on state highway 67 near the Carrollton city limits. He was found by passing motorists and taken to the office of Dr. A. D. Wilson, where he died at 6 o'clock Sunday night.

Coroner Shields said that the nature of McCadden's injuries indicated that he might have been struck by a truck, the driver of which did not know of the accident. The victim suffered a skull fracture and a broken leg.

No clues as to the identity of the driver of the truck were available Monday. McCadden had left his home here shortly before the accident, and had been taken to the outskirts of the city apparently by a friend. Relatives said he was probably returning to his home and had walked only a short distance inside the city limits when the accident occurred.

Mr. McCadden was well known in Carrollton, as a handy man who did odd jobs for his friends and neighbors. The accident victim is the father of eleven children, who, with his wife, survive him. They are Norman, Timothy, Meda, at home; Earl of Clinton; Mrs. Mildred DeShler of Alton; Mrs. Mary Bolin of Decatur; Mrs. Margaret Story of Beardstown; Mrs. Anna Doughty of Peoria; Misses Grace and Roby of St. Louis, and Peter of Cham-paign.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
SALLY BLAIR—heroine. She had everything that popularity could wish for, except...

"DAN HEYKOLD—hero. He might have had Sally but while he was king on skis...

Yesterday, when Dan told Sally that some day he would make good, overcome his infirmities, she knew she was waiting for him forever.

CHAPTER XIV
SALLY and Dan were indeed friends now. Dan came out to the house often, sometimes for dinner, again to spend an evening. Occasionally Sally met him in the city for a luncheon date and every Sunday they spent the entire day together. They went on long hikes, Dan swimming beside Sally, determined to keep step in spite of his limp, almost because of it; they played golf; they went horseback riding. Sally mounted on Lucky Star, Dan on a sorrel from her father's stables.

On such a day, when Sally had packed a lunch and they had tramped far into the hills, resting now in the shade of a row of weeping willows that dripped their lazy foliage into a brook. Dan suddenly asked a question that had been bothering him for some time.

"Sally," he said, "may I ask you something? Something that's none of my business, that I've no right to ask?"

"Of course," Sally returned promptly. She might have been another boy, in her sport skirt and slacks, a boy handkerchief tied over her dark curls, except that no boy ever had looked as bewitching as Sally did now.

Stretched out on the bank, chin cupped in the palms of her hands, eyes dream-filled as they watched the lazy clouds, big puff-balls of cotton, drifting in the blue-blue sky.

Dan skinned a pebble across the brook before he went on. It struck the rocks on the other side. His gray eyes, too, were content; he had some of his old color back; he was not nearly so thin.

"Are you engaged to anyone, Sally Blair?" he asked, after a rather long moment.

"Engaged," Sally straightened up on one elbow. "Whoever made you think that? No, of course not. I'm not engaged to anyone."

"I see," Dan said. He didn't. Corey Porter distinctly had given him to understand that he was engaged to Sally. That night when he had brought him to her birthday party, Corey had said, "Oh, by the way, Reynolds, you might as well know, though I'd rather you didn't mention it since no one else knows about it yet, that Sally and I are going to be married one of these days."

"I've changed my mind about a lot of things," Dan went on. He spoke slowly, still idly tossing of these days." His tone, his whole manner as he had said this, had made it an established, unquestionable fact.

But of course Sally would not have denied it so emphatically if it was. Unless she, too, did not want it known yet. Say until after Corey graduated, perhaps.

"YOU didn't answer my question," Sally said. She, too, picked up a pebble, tossed it into the brook. The little circle it made widened, and then disappeared.

There is only one person I shall ever become engaged to, Sally thought. And she had said so until that person had licked the things he felt had got the better of him.

"I just wondered," Dan returned. She had asked what had made him think she was engaged. But Corey had asked him not to say that he had told Dan.

"Do I act like an engaged person?" Sally smiled at him.

"You not just as you should," Dan said gravely. "You are a swell person, Sally Blair."

"Does that mean you've changed your mind—a little? Once, you know," Sally reminded, "you told me I was the sort of girl for whom you had no time at all. You said you did not believe in me."

"I'm sorry I said that," his gray eyes looked into hers. "I was wrong. You see I had always been afraid of girls like you, girls who were so pretty, so popular, who had everything in fact. And you, well, you were the prettiest, the most popular of them all. Queen of the carnival. Corey Porter's girl. A glamour girl, in fact."

"Is that such a terrible thing to be?" Sally asked.

"Terrible enough to scare me to death," his expression was so serious that Sally laughed. "You were right, when you called me a coward," Dan said, after another moment. "I was—still am, I guess—when it comes to a girl like that. But I don't believe you are that kind of girl, Sally. Except maybe on the outside. I think, deep down inside, that you're as sweet and simple and natural as those spring beauties growing under these trees."

"Thank you, kind sir," Sally replied demurely. But her heart swelled with a fierce, warm joy. Dan did believe in her. He no longer could deny that. Oh, she must be exceedingly careful not to break that belief again. She must be the sort of girl he thought her, live up in every way to that.

Severe Cold Wave Hits North States

WIND, RAIN AND SNOW USHER IN FRIGID BLASTS

Some States Out Of Storm Path, All Feel Cold Wave

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(P)—Wind, rain and snow ushered the severest cold wave of the season into the northern states tonight.

Temperatures had dropped below zero in North Dakota and were falling steadily as far east as North Carolina. Readings of 10 below were forecast for the entire state of Nebraska.

Snow swept through the Dakotas and into Minnesota, where it drifted and halted highway traffic in some sections. Flurries were reported in Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan, with more snow predicted for tonight.

Kansas, Missouri

Kansas and Missouri were out of the path of the storm, but the mercury dropped 20 degrees at Kansas City, and near zero temperatures were forecast for both states during the night.

Eastern states, the weather bureau reported, would feel the worst of the cold wave tomorrow night. Snow tomorrow was forecast for Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and most of New England.

New York City and New England generally enjoyed clear, crisp weather today, temperatures hovered around the freezing mark. Storm warnings were issued by the weather bureau for Lake Michigan, over which strong northwest winds will blow, and for the Atlantic coast from Cape Hatteras to Sandy Hook, N. J.

Warm Weather Ended

Sub-zero temperatures were reported in Colorado, Montana and Wyoming, ending a spell of unseasonably warm weather in those states. Low readings last night included six below at Helena, Mont., five below at Great Falls, Mont., and two below at Craig, Colo., and Newcastle, Wyo. Still colder weather was forecast.

A cold wave entered Oklahoma, accompanied by dust storm in the west and a drizzle in the east. Rains helped winter grain crops in some parts of Texas.

Los Angeles had fair weather today, the temperature reaching a high of 66. "The cold wave will advance eastward Tuesday over central and eastern sections of the north central states, with continued cold weather on Wednesday," forecaster J. R. Lloyd said.

He predicted snow in Michigan tomorrow and light to moderate snow in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and eastern portions of Minnesota and Iowa.

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—The Interior department announced today more than 7,000 young men and women had enrolled in federally-financed vocational education classes for training as aviation mechanics.

Dr. John W. Studebaker, commissioner of education, estimated about 4,500 students already were taking the courses.

FINLAND-RUSSIA

Moscow, Dec. 26.—(P)—An official announcement tonight said an exchange of notes had approved documents and maps defining and marking the 600-mile frontier between Finland and Soviet Russia.

His career, as few others, mirrored the growth of motion pictures to a gigantic medium of entertainment.

He and Rosemary Theby, his widow, were acting for such companies as Lubin and the old Universal while many stars of today were hardly out of kindergarten.

In "Connecticut Yankee" released shortly after the World War, he helped bring a new vein of satire to the screen. The picture was later remade, with the late Will Rogers in the title part.

ANNOUNCE DIRECTOR OF DWIGHT GREEN'S RACE

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(P)—The campaign headquarters of Dwight H. Green, a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of Chicago, announced tonight Green's campaign would be directed by Ferre C. Watkins, attorney and former state commander of the American Legion.

Green is also an attorney, as a member of the U. S. District Attorney's staff he prosecuted Al Capone.

THAW IN EUROPE

London, Dec. 26.—(P)—Most of Europe, blanketed under snow, today faced the prospect of a general thaw bringing a slushy end to its "white Christmas."

The glass never reflects light from any angle whatever, no matter how strong the glare. Clock, dial face and show case glass and windows appear not to exist. Eyeglasses would not bother wearers with reflection of stray beams from side or behind.

New feats in photography seem possible. Normally a camera lens cuts out 8 per cent of light. With some better types of cameras, using three or four lenses, this means a loss of 25 to 35 per cent of the light reaching the plate. Coated lenses would give that much increase in light.

An incredibly thin film on both surfaces of glass is the secret of this scientific miracle. The film is about four millionths of an inch, or one quarter the wave length of light, in thickness.

Dr. Blodgett is of the General Electric research laboratory. Her work is an example of "pure" science that seems not to have the remotest practical value, suddenly doing something revolutionary. The impractical thing was finding that an oily film a single molecule thick can be spread on the surface of water.

This discovery was made by Dr. Irving Langmuir of General Electric, winner of the Nobel prize in chemistry. Miss Blodgett is his associate.

The chemical formula of the coating is not made public and the process is not on the market nor its products for commercial sale. In the last six months Dr. Blodgett has found about half a dozen chemicals to render glass invisible. The problem has been to get one that would not wipe off. Unofficially it is reported this has been done.

REBELS ARREST FIFTY PERSONS IN SPY PROBES

Result Of Discovery Of Papers Carried By Briton

Hendaye, France, (At the Spanish Border), Dec. 26.—(P)—An official insurgent communiqué from Spain today announced that 50 persons had been arrested as a result of the discovery of espionage documents in a valise carried by a British vice-consul and that two British subjects would be tried by insurgent judges.

The communiqué issued through the insurgent news service said "the British diplomatic pouch was used currently by spy rings at San Sebastian and St. Jean de Luz (France)."

Found In Pouch

Papers found in the pouch carried by Vice-Consul Harold Goodman, British vice-consul at San Sebastian, were described in the official statement as "information and plans concerning the composition and placing of military forces. There were also Red (government) questionnaires asking the situation of Nationalist (insurgent) forces. The pouch also was used for contraband foreign currency destined for the most part for payment to enemy agents."

It was further declared that documents found in possession of Spanish government agents included the names of two British subjects: "Mr. Golding at the San Sebastian consulate, and Mr. Rattenbury, attaché at the British agency at Burgos (insurgent capital)."

The communiqué said insurgent judges would determine the "responsibility of these two men" who were not identified further.

Self Amputation Is Apparent Success

Minneapolis, Dec. 26.—(P)—Henry Donnett was recovering tonight from shock suffered when he was forced to amputate his right hand with a jack-knife after it became caught in a steam boiler.

Doctors were still optimistic over his condition, but they said they believed the 32-year-old janitor of Central High School would soon be as well for his experience as if expert surgeons had performed the operation.

Donnett fell unconscious after severing the hand. Three hours later he managed to notify police who took him to a hospital.

Mrs. Dull Begins 14-15 Year Term

Detroit, Dec. 26.—(P)—Mrs. Fern Patricia Dull, the "office wife" who was convicted of the slaying of her lover, Attorney William Holbrook, of Benton Harbor, entered the Detroit House of Correction today to begin a 14-to-15 year term for manslaughter.

The attractive 34-year-old blonde was brought here by automobile from the jail at St. Joseph by Sheriff Charles L. Miller of Berrien county and his wife, Cleo.

Outwardly calm and collected, Mrs. Dull said an appeal from the conviction "is up to my attorneys." She was dressed in a neat black and grey plaid coat, a black hat with green feather, a black dress trimmed in white, with gloves to match, and black shoes.

With her she brought numerous Christmas gifts and 200 cards and messages she received at the Berrien county jail Christmas day.

VENEZUELA OIL

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—The National Coal Association said today that Representative Dirksen (R-Ill.) had protested to the state department against any trade agreement with Venezuela which would "freeze" the excise tax on petroleum imports at the current rate of a half a cent a gallon.

Dirksen wrote the department that more than 20,000,000 barrels of oil were imported from Venezuela in 1937.

RUDE AWAKENING

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 26.—(P)—Weary of driving, Joseph Fenton, 34, of New York, steered to the side of the lonely highway today, switched off his car lights and fell asleep.

Fenton, cut and bruised, awoke in his car 40 feet from where he had parked on a railroad track. A locomotive had hit it.

ROBBINS-SEIGLE

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 26.—(P)—William Robbins-Seigle, 59, chairman of the board and research director of the Johns-Manville corporation, died in St. Mary's hospital today of pneumonia which followed an abdominal operation Dec. 6.

A Final Wonder Of 1938—Invisible Glass

Schnechtady, N. Y., 26.—(P)—Discovery of a coating that makes glass invisible, so that it disappears from view like the wearer of Siegfried's legendary cap, was announced today by Dr. Katharine B. Blodgett, noted woman scientist.

Ordinary thicknesses become clear as air, and reveal how much human eyes have been missing in looking through even the finest glass. Purest glass transmits about 92 percent of light, against more than 99 with the new coating. A coated pane is visible only by its dimly outlined edges.

The glass never reflects light from any angle whatever, no matter how strong the glare. Clock, dial face and show case glass and windows appear not to exist. Eyeglasses would not

Insurgents Take Strategic Town In Catalonia Advance

Elsewhere in Catalonia Franco's Troops Report Steady Progress in Thrust Aimed at Capital, Barcelona

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish frontier), Dec. 26.—(P)—The Spanish insurgent military command reported tonight the capture of Borja Blanca, strategic town 16 miles southeast of Lerida on the main Catalan highway to Tarragona on the Mediterranean coast.

Insurgent radio stations broadcast a report from Generalissimo Francisco Franco's general headquarters that this important position fell in the 4th day of their general offensive into the heart of the government stronghold in northeastern Spain.

Campaign Center

Borja Blanca is approximately 35 air miles from Tarragona and is in the center of the insurgent campaign on the southern end of the Catalan front.

Elsewhere in Catalonia Franco's troops reported a slow but steady advance in their thrust aimed ultimately at Barcelona, the government capital.

Just south of Borja Blanca, the insurgents reported they penetrated the province of Tarragona in the vicinity of the Sierra de la Llena, where the government has erected a strongly fortified line.

The insurgent columns in the mountains and those at Borja Blanca apparently were endeavoring to form a junction at Montblanch, 20 miles to the east for a combined push against Tarragona, 20 miles south southeast. Montblanch is a junction on the curving main Lerida-Tarragona highway.

Insurgent planes, flying ahead of the land forces, bombed Reks, about 10 miles from Tarragona on the highway. Government advisers said nine persons were killed.

FRANCO-ITALIAN COLONIAL ISSUE IS 'CLARIFIED'

Next Move Is Up To Italy By Terms Of French Reply

Paris, Dec. 26.—(P)—France told Italy today that she accepted the Italian note renouncing the 1935 Laval-Mussolini territorial treaty but that the accord must stand as the only basis for negotiations between the two powers.

Thus, the next move in the colonial issue was put squarely up to Italy as Premier Daladier, despite Fascist cries of "provocation," disclosed plans to make his tour of Corsica and Tunisia a mighty "hands off demonstration" to Premier Mussolini's legions.

Answer to Italy

The French note was sent to Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano by Andre Francois-Poncet, French Ambassador to Rome. It answered Italy's note which declared annulled the 1935 pact. The pact gave more than 44,000 square miles of territory to Italian Libya and Italian Somaliland at the expense of Tunisia and French Somaliland.

Daladier arranged to travel by warship and to review huge parades in Corsica, France's Mediterranean island department, and Tunisia, her North African protectorate, in a tour of military fanfare.

Japanese Capture 4 Towns, Kill 600

Shanghai, Dec. 26.—(P)—The Japanese, striving to pacify unconquered South Shansi province, in North China, announced today their forces had captured four towns and killed 600 Chinese in a new offensive.

They reported they had won control of hilly regions north of the Fen river radiating from Linfen, city which lies about 60 miles east of the Yellow river and about 200 miles northwest of Kaifeng.

Severe fighting was reported under way near the juncture of Shansi, Shensi and Honan provinces.

RUDE AWAKENING

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 26.—(P)—Weary of driving, Joseph Fenton, 34, of New York, steered to the side of the lonely highway today, switched off his car lights and fell asleep.

U.S. DELEGATES SATISFIED WITH GAINS AT LIMA

Eighth Pan-American Conference Will Close Today

Lima, Dec. 26.—(P)—United States delegates today hailed the eighth Pan-American Conference which closes tomorrow as a remarkable monument of achievement and an excellent example for future assemblies of the western world's 21 republics.

This note of optimism was registered as the various delegations began breaking up after more than two weeks of earnest negotiations which produced some 130 resolutions and declarations, including the momentous "Lima declaration" for new world solidarity and defense.

Amid the hurry and bustle of preparations for the final session there were evidences that the United States delegation did not intend to rest on the gains made here for improving Latin American relations.

Future Assemblies

Many of the Washington delegates already were laying plans for technical Pan-American conferences to be held shortly. Among them were assemblies on the Pan-American highway and on intellectual cooperation, both of which will be held in Santiago, Chile.

The final social event will be a dinner and reception given by President Oscar Benavides of Peru at the governor's palace.

Most of the United States delegates planned to go directly from the reception to the nearby port of Callao to board the S. S. Santa Maria which sails for New York early Wednesday.

Alf M. Landon, Republican candidate for president in 1936 and former governor of Kansas, left ahead of his fellow United States delegations today. He took a plane for Guatemala en route home.

Death Plunge of 3 Indians in Montana Probed by Officers

Hardin, Mont., Dec. 26.—(P)—The death plunge of three Crow Indians off a 250-foot cliff, over which the Red man often stampeded bison before killing them with arrows, provided officers with a possible murder mystery today.

Blood on sagebrush indicated a terrific fight occurred atop "Buffalo Falls" before the bodies of Anna Door, 26, Pete Charges Strong, 45, and Fred Old Horn, 50, dropped to the dry bed of Big Horn river below.

The driver of a car reported to have been on top the cliff Friday night, about the time the trio died, was sought for questioning. Strong and Door appeared to have survived the plunge only to die while crawling for help, from wounds inflicted by sharp points in the rock.

Not far from the cliff is the site where old Fort Custer was erected after the Sioux Indians massacred Gen. George A. Custer and his men in 1876.

MacFadden Unhurt In Crash of Plane

Westfield, Mass., Dec. 26.—(P)—Bernard MacFadden, magazine publisher, escaped unhurt today when his five-passenger cabin plane nosed over as he was landing at Barnes airport.

MacFadden was en route from New York to visit his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hebert, of Holyoke. Hebert saw the plane overturn and then watched the publisher climb out unhurt.

Observers said the accident apparently was caused because MacFadden landed with the tail of the plane "rising high." The propeller, left wing, and rudder were damaged.

MacFadden, who was traveling alone, went immediately to his daughter's home.

UPTREND IN TRADE IS PREDICTED FOR 1939

New York, Dec. 26.—(P)—A steady uptrend in trade in the first part of 1939 was forecast today by William R. Kuhns, editor of "Banking," official publication of the American Bankers Association.

The business outlook, he held, largely was dependent "on government and business leaders getting together and on the course of world politics."

SAMUEL V. STICKEY

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 26.—(P)—Samuel V. Stickey, 74, president of the Farmers and Mechanics bank, died today. He was a former deputy sheriff and circuit clerk of Knox county. His widow survives.

Governor Earle in Another Crack-up

Philadelphia, Dec. 26.—(P)—Pennsylvania's flying governor, George H. Earle, intends to keep right on flying despite three crack-ups—the most recent slightly injuring himself, his wife and two guests.

"Sure we'll keep on flying," said young George H. Earle, 4th, today. The son, learning to fly himself, watched from another plane yesterday as his father's ship nosed up in a fast landing at a suburban aviation country club field.

The governor had flown Mrs. Earle and two friends from Harrisburg to Philadelphia for a Christmas party at the home of the governor's mother.

Earle, who returned Thursday from a vacation in France, was flying his ship for the first time in more than a month. He overshot the field and hit hard. The under-carriage collapsed.

Earle and his wife were cut on the legs and the others cut on the face. Treated at a hospital, they attended the scheduled party.

ANOTHER SUICIDE

Budapest, Dec. 26.—(P)—Another suicide was added today to the list of persons who have ended their lives in protest against proposed Hungarian laws for the regulation of Jews.

The latest death was that of the well-known woman physician, Irma Szabo. Police, who said she died of poisoning, listed the case as suicide.

Roosevelt Decides On Huge Air Force

CONGRESS WILL HEAR A SPECIAL MESSAGE ON IT

Armaments Talk Is To Follow Appearance January 4

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—President Roosevelt was reported authoritatively today to have decided on a double-barreled recommendation to Congress for national defense reinforcements of unprecedented peacetime magnitude.

Persons close to the administration said the chief executive intended to report, in the annual message he will deliver personally to a joint Senate-House session on January 4, that the security of the nation and its neighbors was threatened by the armed might of aggressive dictator states.

Special Message

A week later, under present arrangements, a special message will present detailed recommendations for an army air force of some 10,000 planes and numerous other measures.

Thus, the administration contemplates a quadrupled military air fleet of at least 13,000 aircraft, including the minimum of 3,000 Congress authorized for the navy in this year's billion-dollar fleet expansion act.

The magnitude of the air program has caused surprise here, especially in view of the fact that some high army officers were advocating, at least up to recently, a comparatively small air force of high quality.

Early in October Major General Henry H. Arnold, new chief of the army air corps, declared that the country didn't need a great many more military airplanes, but needed, faster ones. Under the development program being carried on at that time, the army was to have 2,300 craft by 1940. Gen. Arnold, in an interview, called that "a very good figure as things now stand."

Effect of Munich

These remarks were made about the time of the signing of the Munich four-power accord. Whether implications of that accord and the post-Munich events abroad have now changed Arnold's mind is not known. He could not be reached for comment tonight.

There have been reports that some other high officers of the army could not see eye to eye with the administration on defense plans. These were denied ten days ago by General Malin Craig, chief of staff, who said: "The administration and the war department have been working in intimate accord on a program regarding which absolutely no decision has yet been finally made."

Shortly before that a retired officer, Major General George Van Horn Moseley, had told the New York Board of Trade that "fear and hysteria" were being engendered in support of heavy expenditures for national defense.

Startling Evidence

Supporting the president's forthcoming proposals, congressional circles have heard, will be "startling evidence" that Germany's aerial force and aircraft factories geared to war demands threaten to upset completely the world balance of military and political power.

From usually well-informed administration and legislative sources come reports of these developments:

1. Details of the new rearmament program are complete. They were shaped in close cooperation with General Malin Craig, army chief of staff, and other military advisors, since Europe's uneasy peace agreement was reached at Munich. War and navy department budgets already have been approved.

2. Convicted that American power must be quickly augmented, Mr. Roosevelt has been unmoved by arguments of some congressional critics that the United States, protected by two oceans, needed no such force as 10,000 army planes.

3. The chief executive and intimate advisors are confident Congress will approve at least the basic recommendations.

MILK STORE PICKETING RESTRAINT IS ADVISED

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(P)—Master Ir Chancery Robert W. Dunn recommended today that the Milk Wagon Drivers' union be restrained from picketing 60 stores selling cut-rate milk in Chicago.

He said in a report filed with Superior court that there is no employer-employee relationships involved in the dispute and that the union has no legal justification for picketing the stores because the milk is not handled by union men before it is received by retailers.

VETERANS ACCUSED

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—Edwin O. Perrin, commander of the American Veterans Association, accused the Veterans of Foreign Wars today of sponsoring veterans' legislation so costly that it would ultimately necessitate use of funds urgently needed for national defense.

APPROACHING WAR

Washington, Dec. 26.—(P)—Rep. Martin Dies (D-Tex.), charged today that the United States was "being deluged with propaganda for the purpose of involving us in the approaching European war."

The Texan, who led the congressional investigation of un-American activities, said he would urge the new congress to re-state "the fundamental policy of non-interference with other countries and opposition to all entangling alliances."

Average Man Taken At Face Value

Probably the best of all commentaries on the amazing Coster case is the plaintive note contributed by the publisher of Who's Who, who remarked: "Who's Who takes it for granted that a man elected president of an $87,000,000 concern is a man of good reputation and standing in his community."

Because practically everybody else follows the same rule, an imaginative swindler was able to put across one of the most fantastic hoaxes of modern times, deceive everybody from the U. S. government to Wall Street, and come to grief only because of a slip-up on a minor detail.

People probably will be drawing morals from the case for years to come. But in some ways the most striking thing about it is the way it illustrates the almost universal tendency to take a man at his own valuation.

Banks have a commendable wariness in the matter of cashing checks, and most business firms want to know a little something about you before they will let you open a charge account; but beyond that you can get people to believe practically anything you say about yourself, and your history is what you say it is.

And the odd thing about it all is not that a man like Coster, or Musica, pops up once in a while to make everybody look like a sucker, but the fact that it doesn't happen oftener.

It could happen. All our business and social machinery is geared to the supposition that the average man is a decent and honorable sort—the belief that it isn't necessary to take extraordinary precautions against swindling because most men simply aren't the swindling kind. Any man who has plenty of nerve and imagination can take advantage of that set-up and get away with it for a long time—as witness Coster, Ivar Kreuger, Dr. Cook, and sundry others.

But ordinary people live up to our expectations. They pan out just about as we think they will. We don't have to police every detail of our personal relationships. By and large, this really is the sort of world that our belief in the next fellow tells us it is.

And that is a rather important point. For it goes back to one of the fundamentals in the existing social organization. What happens when that fundamental is discarded can be seen today in all its pristine ugliness, in the dictator-lands overseas.

There the belief in man's innate decency and intelligence has been discarded. Because it has been discarded, elaborate machinery to make men think and act as their leaders want them to think and act is required. For by an inexorable logic, once you assume that your fellow man is not to be trusted in some things you must assume that he is not to be trusted in anything. And the same logic forces you to regiment every detail of his life.

So perhaps we had better go on taking people at their face value, in spite of the Coster hoax. The only alternative is to start something we wouldn't like at all.

Some Vice Presidents

Few Americans, perhaps, would be able to tell off-hand how many vice presidents of the United States afterward became president, and for the benefit of any who might be interested, we may recall that there were nine.

They were, in order, John Adams, Jefferson, Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, and Coolidge. The first three were elected president after serving terms as vice president, while the remaining six became president upon the death of the chief executive with whom they were elected.

John Adams served two terms as vice president under President Washington; was elected president in 1796, but defeated for re-election in 1800 by his own vice president, Thomas Jefferson. In fact, Adams ran third in the election of 1800, receiving 65 electoral votes, while Jefferson and Aaron Burr received 73 each. The election was thus thrown into the House of Representatives, and Jefferson was elected. Burr becoming vice president under the system then in effect.

Martin Van Buren was vice president during the second term of President Andrew Jackson, whom he succeeded to the presidency in 1837. Van Buren was defeated for re-election in 1840; defeated for nomination for president in 1844, and nominated but defeated in 1848.

Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson and Arthur merely served out the unexpired terms of their predecessors, although Fillmore tried for an additional term and failed.

Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge were elected president in their own right after serving out the unexpired terms of their dead predecessors, McKinley and Harding.

High School Notes

The Crimson basketballers are giving local fans some heart-straining moments this season. J. H. S. rooters fill the old David Prince gym to the rafters when the five squares off with an invader. Besides ruining the voices and fingernails of fans, the hectic contests tend to jangle a coach's nerves. Frank Walker, Crimson mentor, wants a let-up.

All of the home contests thus far have looked like a last, desperate rally from the opening whistle to the final gun. Several times during the games there have been long scoreless periods, but the five kept the crowds howling themselves hoarse with scrappy, unrelenting play.

Cheerleaders come into their own during the basketball season. In outdoor sports, the fans are usually spread out too much to have any effective coordination.

Crimson cheerleaders get plenty of support at the hoop tilts, especially this season. The varsity coordinators are Paul Ketter and George Vasconcellos. However, a new pair assisted the veterans in directing the screams at the last contest—Dorothy Jane McPherson and Ula Meggison.

One feature that the J.H.S. students at the recent game with Carrollton thoroughly enjoyed was a yell led by Principal J. C. Mutch during the half intermission. A group of patriotic J. H. Sers in a corner of the gym asked the high school administrator to lead them in one of the familiar yells. Imagine their surprise when he complied. He got plenty of support, too.

Miss Frances Brown, English instructor and dramatic coach, is issuing the first call for potential stars to play in the coming annual senior play. Miss Irene Groves, dean of the senior group, together with a number of classmates, has selected a three-act play which will be given soon after the first of the year.

From a glance, the play (title to be announced later) looks like a real drama. Miss Brown announcing to the senior home room the opening of try-outs, said that she needed "men." No one stepped forward.

Thursday found most of the male students of J. H. S. wandering around without ties. It seems that a group of upperclassmen decided that things were getting a little dull during the noon period, and started waylaying each student appearing on the grounds with a tie, promptly removing the article.

Some of the boys gave their ties fully a year's wear during the day, automatically knotting the object after each removal only to have it torn off once more.

Family Dinner Monday
At Mrs. W. E. Hall's Home
Mrs. W. E. Hall entertained at 1 o'clock Monday with a family Christmas dinner at her home on South Diamond street. About thirty relatives were present for the occasion. Turkey was the piece de resistance.

Among out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Nordling of Peoria, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Tuckey of Champaign, and Attorney George H. Wilson. Mrs. John M. Graham and Mrs. Jessie Crowl, all of Quincy.

Sound vibrations of even quality and regularity give rise to smooth sounds, which we recognize as musical notes; when of complicated or uneven quality, they produce a "noise."

William N. Findley To Wed Chevy Chase Maryland Girl Soon

Engagement Announced by Parents of Miss Ruth Woolsey in East

Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Woolsey of Chevy Chase, Maryland, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Woolsey to William N. Findley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Findley of Jacksonville.

Miss Woolsey, who made her debut two years ago, studied during her freshman and sophomore years at Mount Holyoke College. She is completing her college course this year at Cornell University in New York, majoring in a study of the history of art.

The bride-elect's father is a prominent international lawyer of Washington, D. C. He was the law partner of the American statesman, Robert Lansing, until the latter's death. Mr. Woolsey served as legal advisor to the secretary of state during Mr. Lansing's tenure of that office in the Wilson administration. Mr. Woolsey, among other capacities is the editor of the American Journal of International Law.

William Findley, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Findley, reside in this city at 313 East Beecher, received his primary and secondary education in the Jacksonville schools, graduating from Jacksonville high school with the class of '32 and receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the Illinois College in 1935. The following year he received the additional degrees, bachelor of science in mathematics and bachelor of science in engineering from the University of Michigan.

The past year Mr. Findley was a McMullen graduate research scholar at Cornell University where he has been preparing a thesis on his study of dynamic stresses. This year he is an instructor in engineering at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

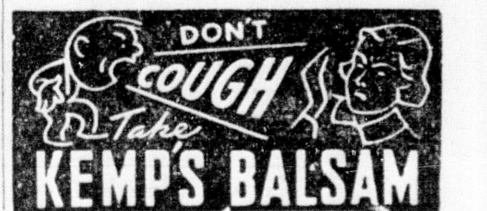

During his study at the University of Michigan he was elected to the scholastic honor society of Phi Kappa

Phi and the research honor society of Sigma XI.

LEAVE FOR MICHIGAN

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Allen of Winchester left Monday for Kalamazoo, Mich., for a visit with Mrs. Allen's sisters, the Misses Mary and Jane Delbert. Mr. Allen will return this week and Mrs. Allen will remain there for an extended visit.

Christmas Dinner Given 212 Families By Salvation Army

Plan Puppet Show for Xmas Entertainment Thursday Night at Barracks

The Salvation Army distributed 212 Christmas baskets to needy families of the city. Nearly $200 was received in contributions placed in the Christmas kettles on the square. More than a truck load of foodstuffs was donated as the price of admission to the Fox-Elmire benefit show held Saturday morning.

In addition the army received numerous gifts of food and cash. Merchants and individuals were generous in their donations to the annual Christmas supply fund. Because of these gifts, it was possible for the army to reach with a substantial Christmas dinner practically every worthy family in the city.

The food was delivered in well-made baskets, which will be useful about the homes of the recipients. All deliveries were made Saturday afternoon except in cases where no one was found at home. Such deliveries were made Christmas morning.

The annual holiday entertainment will be held at the army barracks Thursday night. A puppet show is being arranged for the occasion. The puppets have been made by members of the Red Shield club. A portable stage for the actors has been constructed.

Don Budge Reveals His Tennis Ranking

New York, Dec. 26.—(P)—Don Budge today placed Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin of England, whom he defeated in straight sets in the Wimbledon final, at the head of his world tennis ranking for 1938.

The California redhead included four American players in his top ten: Bobby Riggs of Chicago, at No. 3; Sidney B. Wood, Jr. of New York, No. 5; Gene Mako, Budge's amateur doubles partner, No. 6; and Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, Jr. of Atlanta, No. 10. Budge, who opens his first professional tour Jan. 3 at Madison Square Garden against Ellsworth Vines, did not include himself in the rankings.

He placed Australia's John Bromwich behind Austin, and said he expected the two-handed Aussie and Riggs to fight it out for world honors in 1939. Budge's other selections were Roderich Menzel of Czechoslovakia, a likely Davis Cup player for Germany next year, No. 4; F. Ojnar of Czechoslovakia, No. 7; Adrian Quist, Australia, No. 8; and Henner Henkel, Germany, No. 9.

Lou Nova Agrees To Meet Jim Braddock

New York, Dec. 26.—(P)—The New York Daily News says that Lou Nova, promising California heavyweight, has agreed to meet Jimmy Braddock, ex-world's heavyweight champion, in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden on March 31.

If Nova wins he will meet Max Baer outdoors next summer, according to the News.

Braddock, who retired after beating Tommy Farr last January, has been in light training for two or three weeks.

Jewell Young Is "Best Athlete" of Western Conference

Purdue Cage Star Honored for 1938 Season; Ralph Heikkinen Second

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(P)—Santa Claus didn't forget Jewell Young, Purdue's great basketball player, leaving him with the designation as the Western conference's "outstanding athlete" during 1938.

Young, whose 184 points last season set an all-time Big Ten record, won the honor in an Associated Press poll of sports writers, coaches and officials. A close second was Ralph Heikkinen, an American football guard at Michigan in the race for the more than 100 ballots submitted.

Young set a conference cage scoring record in the 1936-37 season with 172 points and then last season proceeded to break this mark by 12 points as Purdue took the basketball title.

Corbett Davis of Indiana won the award last year. Before him the winners were Jesse Owens, Ohio State, 1936; Jay Berwanger, Chicago, 1935 and 1934; and Duane Purvis, Purdue, 1933.

ALSEY

The following of the Alsey school and their families were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown west of Glasgow, Wednesday evening. A three course turkey dinner was served amidst a setting of red and green lighted candles and other decorations in keeping with the holiday season.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing pinocle and Chinese checkers. Those present besides the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson and son Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lettze, Miss Bernice Ruble, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lettze.

Henry McLaughlin, Richard McLaughlin, Estell Workman, Evelyn Workman, Boyd McGlasson, Glen Young, Glendon Walk, Emmerson Grey and Jeanette Black, students of Winchester high school are spending their Christmas holidays, which began December 23, at the homes of their parents in Alsey.

MISS BEEMER HOSTESS TO GROUP AT PARTY

Miss Bernita Beemer entertained a number of her friends recently at a Christmas party at her home on North Main street. Recitations and Christmas carols were sung by the group. Santa Claus then made his appearance, presenting each guest with a gift.

GUESTS OF PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bunch, of Chicago, are spending the Christmas holidays with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Bunch and Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Deatherage.

Charles A. Stringham and family of Tennessee are spending the Christmas holidays at the home of Mrs. Sarah Stringham on West Douglas avenue.

VISIT IN CHAMPAIGN

Mr. and Mrs. T. U. Smirl spent Christmas with their daughter, Miss Doris Smirl, in Champaign.

HERE FROM CHAMPAIGN

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lucas of Champaign spent Christmas here with relatives.

Worms have been found inside nuts whose shells have no visible holes. The hole, through which the parent insect deposits her egg, is bored while the nut is small, and closes up as the nut grows larger.

LEAVES FOR WISCONSIN

Robert Baranes of Alexander has gone to Madison, Wisconsin to visit relatives.

LEAVES FOR EAST

Coleman Essex left Sunday morning for Brooklyn, N. Y., where his ship is stationed, after a pleasant Christmas visit with his mother and friends in this city.

Strikes to Spare

SINGLE PIN SPARES

Ball is in proper position to make No. 10 single pin spare with a hook.

BY DON BEATTY

World All-Events Champion

Single pin spares ... the 4, 7, 6, and 10 ... give some bowlers a lot of trouble.

The No. 10 probably is missed more than all the others put together.

If you miss it outside or inside, it is a case of the wrong angle for the ball.

If you roll across the alley from left to right and the ball drops in the gutter, you are taking too much alley and should move more to the center.

If you miss it outside or inside, it is should move more to the left side of the alley. The same applies to the No. 6 pin as well as the 6-10 combination, except that you have a greater margin to work in.

Such single pins as the 4 and 7 should never be missed.

Use your strike ball and place it a few inches farther to the center of the drive than your spot for the strike ball.

Elizabeth Roady of Kane and H. Rowden Wed on Christmas

Graduate of Illinois College Reads Marriage Vows

Kane.—A wedding of interest to many in this community was solemnized at 3 o'clock Christmas afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Roady here, the former being principal of the high school, when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Roady, became the bride of Hugh H. Rowden, also of Kane. The bride's grandfather, Elder T. J. Roady, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few close friends.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary Rowden, as maid of honor, and Miss Betty Rowden as bridesmaid. Both sisters of the bridegroom. Goldman Roady and Elston Roady, brothers of the bride, were best man and groomsmen.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Austin Cope of Jerseyville, sang "I Love You Truly" (Bonds).

A reception followed, during which refreshments were served, the wedding cake being an interesting feature. The home was decorated with bouquets of large yellow and white "mums."

Mr. and Mrs. Rowden left on a wedding trip of secret destination and duration, but it is known that they will return in time for Mrs. Rowden to resume her duties as English and music instructor in the Chesterfield High school after the holidays. Mrs. Rowden was a graduate with the class of 1938, Illinois College where she took leading parts in a number of Dramatic Club plays.

Bradley Tech Wins From Oregon, 52-39

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 26.—(P)—Bradley Tech overcame an early lead tonight to defeat the University of Oregon basketball team, 52 to 39, before 5,000 spectators.

The lanky Oregon five ran up a 6-0 lead in the first two minutes of play, but Bradley tightened its defense and tied the score at 8-all.

Using a fast break almost all the way, Bradley soon built up a comfortable lead and took the decision going away with Schunk and Hudson sharing offensive honors.

Big Ten Quintets Move Into Garden

Minnesota and Illinois To Play in New York

New York, Dec. 26.—(P)—Two of the Big Ten's top teams, Minnesota and Illinois, move into Madison Square Garden tomorrow night to take on Metropolitan College quintets in the first of two holiday week double-headers.

Minnesota, rated by Coach Dave MacMillan as a team that "may turn out to be the greatest I ever had," will present a veteran array led by forwards Gordon Addington and Johnny Kundla in its clash with a largely-sophomore New York University quintet. The other game will send Illinois, with Pick Dehner, third-highest scorer in the Big Ten last season, against Manhattan College.

Both invading forces will be favored to repeat New York triumphs of a year ago, when the Gophers turned back N. Y. U. and Long Island U., and the Illini won over St. John's. N. Y. U. will have in its lineup only one 1937 starter, Danny Dowd. Manhattan has been weakened considerably by the graduation of spark-plug Nat Volpe and also may be without the services of Jim (Socker) Sarullo, injured in a game with American U. last week.

Southern California's squad will be among tomorrow night's spectators. The Trojans will make their Garden debut Friday night against L. I. U. on a card that also will match Colorado with St. John's.

VIRGINIA

Miss Virginia Rexroat of New York City will spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rexroat, Sr.

Mrs. Anna B. Bird Is Found Dead Sunday At Her Home Here

Funeral Wednesday for Local Woman; Inquest Is Held Monday Morning

Mrs. Anna B. Bird was found dead at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning at her home, 1100 South East street. Coroner E. O. Sample held an inquest at ten o'clock Monday morning at the Williamson funeral home.

Decedent was born in Kentucky Nov. 19, 1868, a daughter of William S. and Mary Riggs. One daughter, Mrs. Bernadine Holmes, preceded her in death. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Elva Lumley of this city, and Mrs. J. K. McChesney of Kentucky. She leaves also four grandchildren.

For 15 years previous to 1933, Mrs. Bird was employed by the Jacksonville State hospital.

Funeral services will be held from the Williamson funeral home at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with interment in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Thomas Bright, 71, a resident of Tallula, died suddenly at the Jacksonville state hospital about 9 o'clock Monday morning. He was a victim of Arterio sclerosis. He was admitted to the hospital September 28 of this year.

Decedent is survived by his wife, Emma, of Tallula, and one son, residing near Springfield.

ELKS HAVE GALA PARTY FOR "KIDDIES"

Standing behind a veritable mountain of pop-corn balls, nuts, fruit and presents which they gave away Friday afternoon at the annual Kiddies party held in the auditorium at Illinois School for the Deaf, the above three members of the local Elks Lodge put on their Christmas smiles for the thousand children who were their guests. Everybody had a big time at the party, the Elks enjoying it just as much as their "Kiddie" guests. Shown above are John Larson and Dan Cloud, who arranged the details of the party, Santa Claus, who drew a spontaneous welcome when he entered the hall, and E. R. Franklin, exalted ruler of the local lodge.

YOUR CHRISTMAS MONEY will mean more if you will invest in Savings Shares that will pay returns in future years. Give the kiddies a New Year's Gift they can add to from month to month.

"Whom the King Delighteth to Honor"
Veteran of World War Left Unusual Memorial in Shape of Letter From King of England; Death Occurs Three Weeks Ago in Macomb Hospital.

George G. Rose of Rushville, who died three weeks ago in St. Francis hospital at Macomb, left a memorial of which few knew until after his death. His uncle, Edgar Simpson, residing northwest of this city, was named administrator of his estate, and among his personal effects, discovered a letter of commendation for war services, written in "the King's own hand."

Rose was a veteran of the World War. He did not wait for the entrance of the United States, but went to Canada and enlisted 18 months before this country declared war on Germany. Rose saw real service and acquitted himself gallantly.

The letter of commendation was written him in 1918 by King George V. It is written on the royal stationery from Buckingham Palace, and carries the signature, "George, R. I." The letters, always appended to their signatures by the kings of Great Britain, are the initials of the Latin phrase, "Rex Imperator," conveying the idea of both royalty and military authority.

Rose was a splendid specimen of manhood, his uncle said, before he entered service in the war. But his health was impaired, and never afterward did he know a well day. King George was evidently acquainted with Rose's case history, for the letter expresses the wish for his restoration to health.

"I did not know he had the letter," Mr. Simpson said, "he never spoke of it. I found it among his personal things. I know he saw real service, because of what another veteran told me. His detachment was stationed on the front not far from where my nephew was serving."

The letter from King George, couched in the simplest language, is something any veteran would feel an honor to possess. It is brief, but expressive of the real thought of both King George and Queen Mary, who is also included in the expression of gratitude to the American boy who fought on the side of the Allies. The letter reads:

Buckingham Palace, 1918.
"The Queen and I wish you god-speed and a safe return to the happiness and joy of home life, with an early restoration of health. A grateful mother country thanks you for faithful service."
George, R. I."

Investigate Death Of Carrollton Man Found on Highway

George McCadden Fatally Injured Sunday When Hit by Truck; Seek Driver

Carrollton—Coroner Russell Shields conducting an investigation into the death of George McCadden, 74, who was fatally injured Sunday afternoon on state highway 67 near the Carrollton city limits. He was found by passing motorists and taken to the office of Dr. A. D. Wilson, where he died at 6 o'clock Sunday night.

Coroner Shields said that the nature of McCadden's injuries indicated that he might have been struck by a truck, the driver of which did not know of the accident. The victim suffered a skull fracture and a broken leg.

No clues as to the identity of the driver of the truck were available Monday. McCadden had left his home here shortly before the accident, and had been taken to the outskirts of the city apparently by a friend. Relatives said he was probably returning to his home and had walked only a short distance inside the city limits when the accident occurred.

Mr. McCadden was well known in Carrollton as a handy man who did odd jobs for his friends and neighbors.

The accident victim is the father of eleven children, who, with his wife, survive him. They are Norman, Timothy, Meda, at home; Earl of Clinton; Mrs. Mildred DeShleria of Alton; Mrs. Mary Bolin of Decatur; Mrs. Margaret Story of Beardstown; Mrs. Anna Dougherty of Peoria; Misses Grace and Roby of St. Louis, and Peter of Cham-paign.

SERIAL STORY

SKI'S THE LIMIT

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
SALLY BLAIR—heroine. She had everything that came out to the world, but she was a little different. DAN REYNOLDS—hero. He was king on skis.
COREY PORTER was king of the social whirl. So... Dan went on with the story.

Yesterday, Dan told Sally that some day he would make good, overcome his infirmities, he knows she can wait for him forever.

CHAPTER XIV
SALLY and Dan were indeed friends now. Dan was indeed the house often, sometimes for dinner, and then to spend an evening. Occasionally Sally met him in the city for a luncheon date and every Sunday they spent the entire day together. They went on long hikes, Dan swinging beside Sally, determined to keep step in spite of his limp, almost because of it; they played golf; they went horseback riding, Sally mounted on Lucky Star, Dan on a sorrel from her father's stables.

On such a day, when Sally had packed a lunch and they had tramped far into the hills, resting now in the shade of a row of weeping willows that dripped their lacy foliage into a brook, Dan suddenly asked a question that had been bothering him for some time.

"Sally," he said, "may I ask you something? Something that's none of my business, that I've no right to ask?"

"Of course," Sally returned promptly. She might have been another boy, in her sport skirt and slacks, a boy handkerchief tied over her dark curls, except that no boy ever had looked as bewitching as Sally did now, stretched out on the bank, chin cupped in the palms of her hands, eyes dream-filled as they watched the lazy clouds, big puff-balls of cotton, drifting in the blue-blue sky.

Dan skinned a pebble across the brook before he went on. It struck the rocks on the other side. His gray eyes, too, were content; he had some of his old color back; he was not nearly so thin.

"Are you engaged to anyone, Sally Blair?" he asked, after a rather long moment.

"Engaged?" Sally straightened up on one elbow. "Whatever made you think that? No, of course not. I'm not engaged to anyone."

"I see," Dan said. He didn't. Corey Porter distinctly had given him to understand that he was engaged to Sally. That night when he had brought him to her birthday party, Corey had said, "Oh, by the way, Reynolds, you might as well know, though I'd rather you didn't mention it since no one else knows about it, that Sally and I are going to be married one of these days."

His tone, his whole manner as he had said this, had made it an established, unquestionable fact.

But of course Sally would not have denied it so emphatically if it was. Unless she, too, did not want it known yet. Say until after Corey graduated, perhaps.

"YOU didn't answer my question," Sally said. She, too, picked up a pebble, tossed it into the brook. The little circle it made widened, and then disappeared. There is only one person I shall ever become engaged to, Sally thought. And she had said she would wait forever if need be—until that person had licked the things he felt had got the better of him.

"I just wondered," Dan returned. She had asked what had made him think she was engaged. But Corey had asked him not to say that he had told Dan.

"Do I act like an engaged person?" Sally smiled at him.

"You act just as you should," Dan said gravely. "You are a swell person, Sally Blair."

"Does that mean you've changed your mind—a little? Once, you know," Sally reminded, "you told me I was the sort of girl for whom you had no time at all. You said you did not believe in me."

"I'm sorry I said that," his gray eyes looked into hers. "I was wrong. You see I had always been afraid of girls like you, girls who were so pretty, so popular, who had everything, in fact. And you were, well, you were the prettiest, the most popular of them all. Queen of the carnival. Corey Porter's girl. A glamour girl, in fact."

"Is that such a terrible thing to be?" Sally asked.

Iron Lungs Will Be Presented to State Hospitals Today

Ceremonies in Springfield Will Complete Transfer Of Equipment

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 26.—(P)—Seven "iron lungs" will be presented tomorrow to seven state hospitals in ceremonies to be conducted at the state garage here by Chairman James M. Slattery of the Illinois Commerce Commission. Heads of hospitals at Anna, Alton, Jacksonville, Kankakee, Elgin, Dixon and East Moline will receive the artificial respiration equipment. The department of public welfare will train attendants in the use of the "lungs" and the state highway department will cooperate in rushing them to points needed. Distribution of the "lungs" gives Illinois one of the best setups in the country for treatment of respiratory diseases by such machines, state officials said.

The Gaines are traveling with a trailer and expect to leave soon for Florida to spend the winter.

Cold Wave Arrives In City to Drive Mercury Downward

Strong Wind Brings Icy Blast to Jacksonville As Rain Halts

True to forecasts a wintry wave struck Jacksonville and surrounding communities late Monday, with indications last night that the mercury would drop to a few degrees above zero this morning. At midnight last night thermometers in the business district of the city showed temperatures of from 15 to 18 degrees above zero, and the mercury was continuing its downward move. Rain fell on the city yesterday morning and continued until yesterday afternoon, when the mercury began its rapid decline, bringing snow flurries. The flakes of snow were driven by a strong wind that came out of the northwest and the piercing cold brought more inconvenience than has been experienced this winter. The cold wave sweeping into the city converted trafficways, which had been dampened by the rain earlier in the day, to ice covered streets to hamper traffic. With a second holiday being enjoyed there was little activity in the downtown district of the city last night.
